EPM stands out once more because of its sustainability results after being included by RobecoSAM in the prestigious yearly publication "The Sustainability Yearbook 2015" that highlights leading worldwide companies by reason of their performance in environmental, social and governance issues.

The yearbook, in publication since 2004, praises companies with the highest ratings in the assessment of the Dow Jones Sustainability Indices that monitor corporate management key issues.

EPM's rating for 2014, 78 points out of 100, in the Multi-services and Water sector is one point above that of 2013 and has received the bronze category recognition with high performance in issues such as water access, biodiversity, scorecards and assessment systems, price risk management and supply chain.

EPM's Chief Executive Officer and leader of EPM Group, Juan Esteban Calle Restrepo, indicated that "receiving the bronze award and being included among the 457 worldwide organizations that are part of the Sustainability Yearbook this year means a big achievement for EPM". He added that "at the company, we are firmly convinced about innovating at the service of people so as to contribute to the construction of a more equitable and inclusive society".

The recognition

The distinction was awarded to EPM by RobecoSAM, a firm specialized in sustainable investment that performs the sustainability assessment every year and publishes the yearbook.

This year the assessment included 830 companies from 41 countries belonging to 59 sectors. Only 457 of them were included in the yearbook.

The bronze award obtained by EPM means that the company belongs to the 10 % of the best companies in the Multi-services and Water sector.
